

Roslyn Roberts

Director of Faith and Community Partnerships

Roslyn has spent decades in the nonprofit sector leading programs for families experiencing poverty. Prior to joining IW in 2023, she served as Director of Rapid Rehousing and Youth Transitional Housing at Housing Up, a DC-based nonprofit. As an ordained Itinerant Elder in the African Methodist Episcopal Church, Roslyn has been active in interfaith communities for decades. Through this work, she has led fundraising efforts to benefit school children and has carried the message that people of every background have the right to be served and heard. She received a Master of Divinity from Howard University and a Bachelor of Science in Psychology from Bowie State University. Roslyn loves to express her creativity in a variety of ways. In her free time, she enjoys painting and making beautiful flower arrangements. She finds that art keeps her motivated and helps her unwind.
